

Dear Editor, Satrong.

I have read the articles (Nari Nirjatone Narir Vumika) written by Jenny Chowdhury at ur site. I leave my comments on her write up.

The Articles are very well written and practical in sense. I am very impressed with her views on those topics. Though she is a woman, she honestly and correctly narrated the nature of atrocites commited by some un reasonable females on the brides at their husband's family. I wish that her write up brings awarness among those women-kind and let the brides live a happy life at her in-law's house.

Her efforts are praise worthy and I hope that she will write more about the sufferings of women in various fields around the world.

Muhammad.
