

Dear Nondini Apu,

I have already submitted the 2nd part of my article which you have kindly posted in your Satrong. I have seen it and really I am thankful to you. I am preparing to write some more articles in your site, only find hard to get enough time beyond official assignments.

I am thankful that many visitors are leaving comments on my articles. I could not think that the issue written by me will receive so much attention. I will be glad if the article helps bringing awareness among people and change the attitude towards the helpless brides in the society.

I have read the comments of Dr. Biplob Paul on my article, but strongly differ with his views regarding open Live-Together. I have read his another article on the topic, and I am really shocked that he openly advocates in favour of Live-Together. We maintain a religious ethic and do not like to see that the decent people are involved in such degrading practices. It has almost ruined the family pattern in the western globe, we do not like to see this evil practice ruining our loving families. It kills the beauty of a family life which we cherish with pride and un-daunted dignity & honour. We cannot go back to the primitive world where the family bond was not in practice and people used to live the life of free-sex, called Ojachar. Live-Together will take us back beyond the line of civilization and we will head towards destruction of human identity. I would like to ask, are those who practice Live-Together are really happy and content with achievement of life mission !!! We must not advocate for a controversial practice, which we would not like to see practiced in our own family !!!

This is my personal belief and faith.
I am sorry if my views hurt anybody.

As for your articles, I always read those with interest. Those articles help me looking at the things from a different angle. I appreciate your views and the style of writing.

All parts of Madhobider Ishwor are honestly very good. I will personally like to see the articles in a printed book form, so that we can preserve that in our personal collection.

Thanks again for your kindness.
I wish grand success of your Satrong in its mission.

Yours Jenny Chowdhury
